The following report, from Mr. John Bailey, late manager to Pers and Holtermann's Star of Hope Gold Mining Co., is annexed.

REPORT.

At the inst of several gentlemen in Sydney, I took all kind report upon Wilson's Reef, at Trunk Creek; when arriving in Bathurst found a telegram waiting me to the effect that the said gentlemen were no longer connected with the venture. At the request of Messrs. Phelps, Owen, and Wilson, I then proceeded to the said reef, on their behalf, and arrived on the morning of Tuesday, the 26th instant. That morning I visited the crushing plant, which is situated on the creek, at a mile and a half below the township, and found that, although of small capacity, to be in good order and very complete. The engine is a ten-horse power, and is driven by a belt of stamper, capable of crushing about 100 tons of ore a week. A well-built dam is also close by the mill, and gives an ample and constant supply of water.

On the following morning I visited the reef, and found the leasehold property to consist of 20 acres, nine of which are proved by eighteen shafts, as shown on the map. I descended the main shaft G, which is 350 feet deep, and found the following:

and after carefully examining the work done by itself a satisfactory result was obtained, which allowed it to surface and subsequently brought to the surface for transmission to Sydney. The reef is eighteen inches wide, well defined, running almost perpendicularly, and bounded by slate walls, which are intersected with numbers of small quartz leaders. The reefs are at present engaged in stoping from the 600 to the 800 foot level, which will give about 300 tons of ore per month average crushing, and at the lowest calculation, I believe will average throughout between five and six ounces of gold to the ton.

One of the special advantages of the mine is the excellent nature of the sinking, no blasting being required,

Therefore the raising of the stone is a comparatively intricate and rapid process. In the course of my stay here, dating now over fifteen years, I have seen many systems of carrying out this work, but I have no hesitation in saying it is one of the best properties in New South Wales. To thoroughly develop the mine, I should certainly see the erection of a winding engine, though this is immediately necessary, as the workings can be carried into the present appliances to a further depth of 160 fathoms. The use of machinery, such as I indicate, would greatly facilitate the work, and therefore greatly increase the value of the material. If the stone is well and truly timbered, and fit to be carried with safety to any depth, in conclusion, I have only to add my conviction

"Wilson's Reef is as good, or better, than anything on Hills Hill, and I express this opinion not without experience of the Hills End claim, for I have been engaged as mine manager in many of the richest of them during the four years, and have a thorough knowledge of their nature and prospective value."

This Company has been formed to work some of the richest mining land yet discovered in the neighbourhood of Belconnen.

The property consists of 100 acres of land, leased from Government under the mineral conditions, and situated in the centre of the Newwest Tin Mining Company's land, adjoining the Karaula Tin Mine, which was lately sold for £46,000.

The quality of this mine will be shown in the fact that the ore is of the best quality, and is worked by simple machinery, with very rude appliances, have in a short space of time raised 7 tons of tin ore, part of which is in Sydney.

The tin produced has yielded by competent assay 74 per cent, and is allowed to be amongst the best tin ore produced in the Invercargill district.

A large number of tin-bearing stones and tin rich soil have been found on the mine, and large specimens are seen at the Exchange, Sydney.

The original proprietors having secured this land in the early stage of tin mining, and proved its value by the results of their operations, claim 12,600 fully paid-up shares and £8000 in preference, which will make over £100,000 in capital to raise, for which they will make no return whatever to trustees, but give up the share already issued, which will enable the shareholders to stand apart after it is formed.

Dividends will be paid on all shares alike, and a clause in the Memorandum of Association gives every shareholder the power to abandon his shares after he has paid the first 5s, if he is not anxious to see further.

When applications are in for two-thirds of the shares, a meeting of the shareholders will be called to approve the issue and appoint directors.

The Government is so well known, that the directors of the Newstead Mine find it necessary that the fact of this land is in the very centre of the Newstead property.

Applications will be received in the form annexed, and that will be closed at an early date.
